

“The most helpful parts of my child’s treatment was her overall ability to overcome and recognize how she feels and why. Most importantly, that it was not her fault.”

—Parent of child in Trauma-Focused Cognitive-Behavioral therapy

Windwood Family Services offers a continuum of therapeutic services:

- Community-Based Prevention
- Two levels of Residential Care and Treatment
- Out-Patient Therapy

These services are provided in the community, in your child’s school, and within the structured and secure setting of residential care.

With three decades of experience and expertise in providing behavioral health services to children and their families, our overarching goal is to eliminate abuse and neglect from our community.
